

ZOO BIRTHDAY PARTY FAQ'S

Can I get a discount on the Zoo Birthday Party Packages with my ZooFriends membership?

ZooFriends membership discounts do not apply to the Zoo's birthday party packages.

Do I need to bring plates, cups, drinks, etc....?

The Zoo will provide plates, silverware, cups, ice cream, napkins and juice for the children. If adult guests will be having cake, you will need to supply plates and silverware for them.

Can I come in and set up for my child's Zoo birthday party early?

In most cases your birthday party group can enter the Zoo birthday party rooms about 10 minutes prior to your scheduled party time.

Can I bring in outside food?

No, there is limited time and the agenda is such that there won't be time for additional food.

Can I bring balloons or a piñata for my child's birthday party?

No, for the safety of our animals piñatas and balloons are not allowed on Zoo grounds.

Who will be responsible for the kids during the party?

The Zoo birthday party host will facilitate your child's party but parents are still responsible for their children's behavior.

How many people can I invite to my child's Zoo birthday party?

For a more memorable experience we suggest limiting your guest list to 15 children and 1 adult chaperone per child.

Where will my child's birthday party be held?

All birthday parties will begin in the Rosser Conservation Education Center which is at the far-east end of the Zoo's main parking lot. When you send invitations please remind your guests to enter at the education center rather than the Zoo's main entrance.

Can I make substitutions to my child's birthday package?

Package prices are all-inclusive and in order to provide the smoothest, most seamless party for your child we don't allow substitutions.
